PRETTY COMEDY HOLDS BOARDS AT THEATER TONIGHT

"Turn to the Right!" Is One of the Stage's Delightful Offerings—Highly Praised By Critics.

In "Turn to the Right!" which will be at the Washington Theater for one performance tonight, Winchell Smith and John E. Hazzard have taken the high points of the rural drama and the crook plays and have woven them into a comedy that should live for many years because it is a play of joy and love and beauty—a masterpiece that gives one that satisfied feeling that is given by few of the plays now on the American stage.

The joy of the play is not alone in the main plot. It is in the delightful scenes, in the brilliant comedy, in the wonderful silences that convey more than any words could. The setting in the old home, with the red table cover, the kitchen pump, the family Bible and the praying mother is enough to bring tears to anyone who cherishes his "back home" recollections. The night scene in the peach orchard is thrilling in its beauty. The comedy situations are ingenious and effective.

There is only one company on tour in "Turn to the Right!" and the comedy will be presented here exactly as it ran for a solid year in both New York and Chicago. In the cast are several players who have appeared in their respective roles more than 1,000 times including Charles W. Goodrich, Jane Ellison, Maude Huntley and Sidney Henderson. Seats are now on sale at Shafer & Watkins' Paint Store.

CAR LOAD OF POTATOES FOR SALE.

Extra fancy Michigan for cooking or seed, $2.50 for 2½ bushel bag. Foot of Limestone street, Thursday, Friday and Saturday; possibly next week. 30Mech2t M. GORDON.

OUT-OF-TOWN PEOPLE TO SEE TONIGHT'S SHOW.

Great interest is taken in the presentation here tonight of "Turn to the Right!" recognized as one of the best and cleanest comedies on the stage today. An unusual number of out-of-town people have reserved seats for tonight's performance and a good attendance is predicted.

NEXT SUNDAY IS VISITATION DAY

Workers Will Visit Each Sunday School in Mason County on Next Lord's Day.

Arrangements for "Visitation Day" for the Sunday schools of Maysville and Mason county next Sunday is about complete. There has been a hearty and willing response from those asked to visit and from automobile owners to make the trips throughout the county. Tomorrow the names of the speakers and the schools they are to visit will be made public. Schools should make every possible effort to get out a full attendance. The visitors will not interfere in any way with the lesson period of any Sunday school. The card of introduction held by each asks for but three minutes to present the cause. If the visitor speaks longer it will be with the consent of the school he or she visits.

Superintendents will be requested to fill out the blanks on cards presented and return them to the visitors, giving attendance for the day, their goal for Go-To-Sunday-School-Day, and their willingness to make an offering for the county and state work. A large poster advertising the special days leading up to Go-To-Sunday-School-Day will be given by the visitor to each school which they will at once post in a conspicuous place. Remember the goal for Mason county is 10,000 for May first. Let every school do its part and the goal will be easily attained.

Walter Thomas, formerly with McIlvain, Knox & Diener, will reopen the repair shop of the late John O'Mahoney in Traxel's alley, where he will do packing, repairing and moving of furniture.

LAST SALE ON TOBACCO MARKET IS A SMALL ONE

Odds and Ends Are Cleaned Up In Sale Held Today—Prices Steady When Quality of Offering Is Considered.

The last sale on the Maysville Tobacco Market for the 1920-21 season was held today and there was little tobacco delivered by growers for the final sale. The sale will total considerable but much of the tobacco was odds and ends held by speculators and was not of a very good quality.

It is thought that practically all of the tobacco throughout this section is now sold and should there be any left out in the country buyers will probably be found without much trouble to take the crops as they are ready for sale.

Official figures for the season could not be given out this afternoon but local warehousemen are of the opinion that the Maysville market will rank as the best market in the state this year.

Sales today follow:

Growers.
Pounds sold	29,110
High price	$57.00
Low price	.90
Average	$12.97

Special Crops:

Mrs. Reese & Sidel	$34.05
Mike Slattery	38.53

These crops along with one by Thomas Taylor, Germantown, that averaged $30.63, and W. P. Herbert of Springdale averaged $46.08, sold recently at the Growers, demonstrates that if tobacco growers will be more careful in selecting their ground, raise only what they can properly care for, and then take pains with handling it, they can always make satisfactory sales.

Home.

39,035 pounds at an average of $10.

Central.

Approximately 10,000 pounds.

Liberty.

7,160 pounds at $12.50, prices ranging from $5 to $1.

Planters.

Approximately 75,000 pounds.

Amazon.

11,875 pounds at an average of $11.50, prices ranging from $39 to fifty cents.

Peoples.

Sold 29,330 pounds.

GERMANTOWN PEOPLE ATTEND REVIVAL IN BODY.

The large auditorium of the First Baptist church was again filled last night and the balcony was opened for the first time during the revival. Last night was "Germantown Night" and a large delegation of Germantown Baptists attended in a body and were given reserved seats. There were two additions during yesterday bringing the total for the revival to 42. Pastor Davis announced that the ordinance of baptism will be administered on Sunday evening. Tonight Dr. Vines will preach on the subject: "The Devil's Lies or the Happy Road." The public is cordially invited to all services.

LITTLE INTEREST IS TAKEN IN VITAL SUBJECT.

There was a very small audience at the court house last night to hear visiting experts on the eradication of tuberculosis from cattle. This very vital subject should be of more interest to people in this section. The visiting experts will speak tonight at Mayslick and tomorrow night at Minerva and the people of those sections are invited to hear them.

OFFICIAL OF FORESTERS HERE FOR MEETING TONIGHT

Organization Recently Established in Maysville Is Rapidly Growing.

Byron, of Brooksville, and will open a law office at Falmouth, Pendleton county under the firm name of Byron, Cole and Bowman. Mr. Bowman's many local friends congratulate him and wish him all the success possible. Mr. Bowman's home is at Vanceburg.

DOGS LOSE TRAIL IN SEARCH FOR POSTAL THIEVES

Officers Unable to Find Thieves Who Robbed Kinniconick Post-office in Lewis County.

The Lewis County Leader says: The postoffice at Kinniconick, about six miles from here was robbed Saturday night and several registered letters were taken, two of which contained something over $30.00 while it is unknown what the other letters contained.

Mr. Riley Stamper, the postmaster at that place, notified Deputy Sheriff Frank Lykins of the robbery early Sunday morning and he at once got busy and in communication with Manchester, and about 12 o'clock a Mr. Soward was here with two bloodhounds.

Deputy Sheriff Lykins met him here with a car and drove him to the scene of the crime.

Upon arrival the officers found that an entrance had been effected through the front door of the store in which the postoffice was kept, by means of a crow bar or some other instrument with which the guilty person or persons broke the lock.

The bloodhounds at once took the trail and followed it up the Kinney road a distance of three or four miles, to the Beaver Dam, thence up a small stream to two houses and then while following the trail through the woods, pursuit.

TAX SUPERVISORS FINISH WORK FOR THIS YEAR

Little Increase Is Made on Assessments and Yet Amount Demanded By State Is Picked Up.

The Mason County Board of Tax Supervisors which has been in session for the past fifteen days, completed its labors today and will adjourn this afternoon for the year.

It is understood that the board has not made large increases in assessments and has had little trouble in getting the assessment properly equalized. Through omitted assessments and errors, with some slight increases, they have been enabled, however, to pick up the $300,000 which was required of Mason county by the State Tax Commission.

The board has worked well together with no friction and has accomplished as much as any board the county has had in years. Each member is to be congratulated and thanked by the people of the county for their splendid services.

COLORED WOMAN IS SHOT IN HIP BY HUSBAND YESTERDAY

Wesley Lane Shot and Seriously Wounded His Wife at Home on the C. & O. Rail-Road.

Wesley Lane, colored, shot and seriously wounded his wife at their home in East Third street near Wood late Wednesday afternoon and the woman is said to be in a very dangerous condition.

Officials are of the opinion that it was an accident that the wife received the bullet. Lane and his stepson, Lee Price, are reported to have been in an argument which resulted in a fight. Lane is reported to have threatened to shoot Price, and his wife, Price's mother, is thought to have stepped between the men and received the bullet in her left hip.

This is the same woman who was horribly burned some few months ago and reports from her today are that she is dangerously wounded.

Police this afternoon at about 3 o'clock located Lane in a stable on Lexington street near the Indian Refining Company's tanks. Lane had been hiding about the city since the shooting and was sleeping in the stable loft when the officers found him. A thorough investigation of the case will be made by the police.

Entered at the Postoffice, Maysville, Kentucky, as Second Class Mail Matter

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

ONE THING THEY LEARNED.

The Fort Wayne News, commenting on the Lansing articles now running in the Saturday Evening Post, says: "Boiled down and stripped of the verbiage of kindness and consideration for his former chief, Mr. Lansing's recital is to the effect that the president failed because of his inexperience, his lack of a definite plan of procedure, and his overweening self-sufficiency. He entered the conference in a position to take hold the lead and he lost his advantage almost immediately. He allowed Clemenceau and Lloyd George to run him ragged and finally strip him even of his rags. He was a fatuous idealist up against skilled and unscrupulous sharpers who simply had fun with him."

The News epitomizes Lansing's article on Wilson. It is interesting, in this connection, to note that two or three new Constitutions have been drafted by as many Republics in South America since our political Dr. Syntax left his post at Washington to "sit in" with the diplomatic card sharps of Europe and to buy chips with fourteen tons of data, fourteen points, and a plugged nickle of an advisory commission. The article dealing with the powers and limitations of the president of Uruguay, set forth in the new Constitution of that country promulgated in 1919, is quoted, the Constitutions of the other countries being similar in effect: "He shall not leave the territory for more than forty-eight hours without the consent of the General Assembly," i. e., the Uruguayan Congress. They are discerning folk, those Latin Americans.

ANOTHER WILSON HERITAGE.

Any hope which may be entertained, that the Lenin-Trotsky Government in Russia is on the eve of being overthrown and that it might be the part of discretion to await that event before entering into trade relations with that country, should be banished by the announcement that Great Britain has entered into a trade treaty with Russia and that her example is to be followed by Italy, China, Japan, and other nations. Great Britain does not make trade pacts with a dying government.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce, calling attention to the fact that the United States, by executive order, declared war on Russia and caused loss of life and property and suffering, suggests, in connection with the question of a resumption of trade with Russia that "there is not improbably lying in the background of the whole question a demand on the part of the Russian Government for indemnity such as we made on Great Britain after the Civil War." If that be the reason for delaying the resumption of trade, then we have to thank Mr. Wilson for another embarrassing heritage as a result of his unauthorized declaration of war against Russia.

WHY BE DISCOURAGED?

Franklin often said: "To be thrown upon one's own resources is to be cast into the very lap of opportunity."

Marden added: "Hard work is the great schoolmaster of the race. It is the gathered drill in life's army, without which we are only confused and powerless when we are called into action."

Sophocles told a friend that nature has left man in this unstable equilibrium lest the satisfaction from the possession of that which he struggles to get rob him of his ambition for new conquests. "Yes," replied his friend: "he struggle to obtain is the great gymnasium of the race."

An ancient Greek thought to save his bees a laborious flight to Hymettus, where beautiful flowers were known to grow. He cut their wings and brought the flowers for them to work upon at home, but they made no honey.

"Oh, if I could thus put my dream on canvas!" exclaimed an enthusiastic young artist, point to a most beautiful and renowned painting. "Dream on canvass!" exclaimed Raphael. "It is the ten thousand touches with the brush you must learn to put on canvas that make you dream."

"You charge me fifty sequins," said a Venetian nobleman to a sculptor, "for a bust that cost you only ten days' labor." "You forget," said the artist, "that I have been thirty years learning to make that bust in ten days."

IDLE LANDS IN COUNTRY INCREASE WITH AMAZING RAPIDITY

Important Need of Reforestation is Apparent, Says Chief Forester,
Practically Every Industry Is Dependent.

Timber depletion has now reached a point in this country where three-fifths of the primeval forests are gone and where 61 per cent. of the timber that is left is west of the Great Plains. Col. W. B. Greeley, Chief Forester of the United States Forest Service, recently told the members of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Liberal use of American forests was a necessary part of the commercial growth of this nation, Col. Greeley believes, but reforestation should have been practiced, if not from the start, at least in later years. There is an abundant area of forest land in this country to support all industries, and a liberal supply of wood is most necessary to the people of this country. It was thought that, like the European countries, we would use, when our civilization was older, but one-third or one-half as much wood per capita as we did in the early days. But this rule does not affect the American people. The older the states and communities in this country grow the more timber they seem to require in one form or another.

Many substitutes have been devised for wood, and yet the great demand of the country for timber continues to grow. More wood is used in construction today than before the discovery of concrete, and more wood is used in building railway cars than before the steel or part steel car was developed. This is apparently true in nearly every industry.

Abundant and widely-distributed forests have meant to the United States homes for the masses of the people beyond the standards of any other nation. They have placed newspapers and magazines on the average family table. They have contributed largely to social and industrial conditions which promote democracy and constructive energy rather than destructive social forces.

bred by hard and comfortable conditions of life.

The idleness of 81,000,000 acres of forest land, an area increased by 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 acres annually, destructive logging, and still more destructive forest fires, are the factors at work to increase the timber shortage.

The exhaustion of American timber has not come about because the forests have been used so freely, but because of the failure to use forest growing land. In a nutshell, the problem is that the United States is cutting wood out of its forests three or four times as fast as it is being grown. Much of the land on which timber stands or has been cut off will always be forest land. It is ample to grow all the wood needed for the use of the people of this country and for export trade in lumber and products manufactured from lumber, if the land can be kept at work growing trees. Timber for the future is simply a matter of putting idle land to work.

A surprising amount of reforestation has come about by chance, but it is manifestly impossible to depend on chance for adequate reforestation of much of our cut-over lands. As lumber is a public utility, it seems wise for the Federal Government to acquire as many acres of forest as possible and administer it nationally; yet for the Government to acquire all the forest land in the United States is impossible. Over three-fourths of it is now in private hands, and a large proportion necessarily must remain under private ownership.

Every reasonable encouragement should be given to the land owner to grow timber on his own account in the ways best suited to his own purposes, but by some means or other the public must see to it that forest lands not needed for agriculture do not lie idle. The regulations imposed must be reasonable and equitable. Obviously the owner of the land can not do it all. The public must aid him in overcoming the hazard of forest fires and must recognize that the present methods of taxing forests in many regions are equivalent to taxing a farm crop twice a week during the growing season.

To grow timber on the average tract of land, doing it as a public utility, three things must be done. The owner must be given the benefit of a moderate tax while his crop of timber is being grown. It must be protected from forest fires due to the negligence of his neighbor and the negligence of the community, and he must be required to employ sufficient safeguards in the way his timber is cut, his slashings disposed of, and fire danger avoided to actually reforest the land.

The Pennsylvania Legislature is considering a plan for raising additional state revenue by taxing billboards a certain rate per square foot, half of the revenue going to the city, borough or township where the signs are located, and the other half to the state.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — This is the war romance of a man who didn't go to war. Like so many of New York's dramatic romances its action took place at Ellis Island. There were more characters in it than a romance really needs, but they are all important: Aaron Hemphing, husky South Dakota farmer, plowing his way through crowds and official red tape with equal determination; Mme. Victorine Augagneur, of Villeneuve, France, her two children, Gabriel, 14, and Simone, 9, and a cousin of the children, Marcelle, 15. As soon as they get to Claremont, S. D., Mme. Augagneur will become Mrs. Hemphing, and the young Augagneurs will become young Hemphings. The only reason for delaying the wedding and adoption is that the South Dakotans don't think much of New York. This is the last chapter of the story that began in 1918, when Hemphing, unable to go into the service, began to play godfather to some French children whose father had been killed at the front. He went to France last year and looked them up as a godfather should. The rest of the story has been told.

From dances to sardines seems like a sizable step. But the human temperament is many-sided at its mildest. So Estaban Cortez and Miss Peggy—just Peggy, that's all the name she appears to have—except to take it shortly. They have been serving as premiere dancers at the Winter Garden and now they have decided to be married. But Peggy insists that dancing is no occupation for a married couple and in searching for more stable profession, Estaban, who really is as Spanish as his name, remembered for some reason the sardines he used to eat in his native land. Then and there the couple decided to import those sardines for a livelihood. As soon as they have saved enough money to Waiting doesn't pay. If you neglect kidney backache, urinary troubles often follow. Doan's Kidney Pills are for kidney backache and for other kidney ills. Ask your neighbor.

Ben P. Fleming, country constable, 328 Limestone street, Maysville, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for several years when I have needed them. I always get Doan's at Wood & Son's drug store. I have been greatly benefited by them. At times my kidneys get out of order and I suffer with a dull constant ache through the small of my back and the kidney secretions are irregular in passage. A box or so of Doan's have never failed to relieve the trouble in a short time."

The above statement was given November 14, 1916, and on November 22, 1920, Mr. Fleming added: "I am glad to renew the statement I gave for publication some years ago as the cure Doan's Kidney Pills made for me is still permanent. I confirm my former statement in every detail as it was all true."

COULD NOT KEEP HOUSE

Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Says Mrs. Pitts of Newburgh

Newburgh, N. Y.—"My trouble was a weak back and I could not walk two blocks without being tired out. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in a newspaper and decided to give it a trial. Now I can do my own work and walk with ease. I always keep the Vegetable Compound in the house. It certainly is my best friend and I could not keep house without it. I have recommended it to many and always shall. You may use this letter if you wish."—Mrs. EDWARD PITTS, 2 High St., Newburgh, N. Y.

It has been said that "backache is an invention of the Evil One to try women's souls," but even so, it is more often a symptom of a female trouble which sooner or later declares itself. Day after day it drags a woman down, and night after night prevents restful sleep. Such women should follow Mrs. Pitts' advice and try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and regain health. Letters about your health will be given careful attention and held in strict confidence if you write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Their experience of 40 years is at your service.

start, they are going to get a marriage license, leave the dancing floor, and cable for sardines all on the same day.

subsidy for export students! That's the idea of E. E. Schwartzkopf, who has been for many years connected with the automobile industry and is now publisher of the Automotive Exporter. Mr. Schwartzkopf has written a letter to J. Walter Drake, Chairman of the Foreign trade committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, asking the Chamber to provide $40,000 a year to send forty young men taken from the commercial schools of the country to different parts of the globe, each man to be placed with some large automobile dealer under the supervision of the American consul. Each man is to receive $1,000 a year and to remain abroad for three years to learn the local automobile trades, the language, and to get the "atmosphere." "The German government worked out a similar plan years ago," Mr. Schwartzkopf told me the other day, "and it helped materially in building up that country's foreign trade. I am going out to the foreign trade convention in Cleveland in May and maybe I can get them interested in the plan there."

Gold fish are supposed to be rather effete and to be found in more or less decorative homes. But some of them get sidetracked. At the far end of the Lexington Avenue subway platform, over at Atlantic Avenue, there is a little dark hutch outside of which hangs the various colored signal lanterns, to be hung forth as occasion requires. Inside the hutch is a quiet serious-looking man who spends his whole day drifting down train numbers, or something of the sort, and who looks as though he had no other interest in this passing life. You wouldn't suspect him of ever even having petted a cat. But back of his desk, in the dark room in the dark subway tunnel, is a large glass tank of murky water, under a green-hooded light. And in the tank are swimming goldfish. They aren't very shiny ones, but they do mighty well under the circumstances. About twice an hour the pessimistic-looking man gets up and surveys them gravely and goes back to his figures.

Whatever Bernard Shaw thinks about us and our country—or says he does—we are going to keep on having his dramas. Lawrence Langner, one of the Theater Guild directors, has just returned from London with the script of Shaw's latest play, "Aethusa." Remembering some of the things Shaw has said about youth, it's going to be interesting to find out what he will do about the old-age record-holder. Mr. Langner also secured the right to produce any of Shaw's plays at the Garrick Theater, as well as a new play from Arnold Bennett and St. John Irvine, and arranged with Nigel Playfair, of Wueen's Theater, Hammer-smith and Jacques Copeau, for the first option on the American presentation of their plays.

We haven't yet been able to get a glimpse of those much-humored Russian crown jewels, but New York is no whaving a look at texamoles of Russia's art, which had to be smuggled out of the country with as much care and almost as much danger as has followed the movements of the jewels. Illa Repin's exhibition just opened has a thrill of human interest, aside from art criticism, in the actual heroism attendant upon its getting here. When Repin died a short time ago, he handed over as a trust to some of his most devoted students, men and women, the task of exhibiting his work in America. They carried it out, smuggling the canvasses in loads of hay and lumber, through Finland and Estonia and then across the Baltic in small fishing vessels. Had there been the slightest suspicion of what was being done, the smugglers would have been shot. It took months to get them to the Scandinavian shore, where they were collected and packed and started on the peaceful part of the journey. Repin was one of the master artists of the generation.

SEEKS WHISKY TAX CASE REHEARING.

Washington, March 31.—Rehearing of the Kentucky case in which a state statute assessing a special tax of fifty cents a gallon on liquor in bond was declared invalid, was sought in the Supreme Court yesterday by the Kentucky Attorney General.

The petition gave three reasons for the request: First, that the judgment "purports to be a final determination when the appeal was prosecuted to determine whether the preliminary injunction should have been granted pending the litigation;" second, "because the court in interpreting a state statute has failed to consider or follow the decisions of the highest state tribunal construing similar statutes;" and third, "because since this case was argued, a judge of the Kentucky Court of Appeals has sustained the validity of the statute."

Publication of the 4,251 board lists will extend over several months.

FARM BUREAU TO AID IN MARKETING OF TOBACCO CROP

Dark Growers Will Join With Burley Men In New Co-operative Marketing System of Handling Crop.

Indorsing the action of the tobacco conference at Louisville Monday approving the general principles of co-operative marketing, the second annual convention of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation yesterday in that city authorized the support and promotion of a reorganized association of dark tobacco growers in Western Kentucky and Tennessee.

The resolution to this effect follows: "Whereas it appears that a committee has been appointed in the Burley tobacco district to work out plans for a permanent organization of the Burley tobacco growers of Kentucky, now be it

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this convention that the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation indorse this movement, and the chairman of this convention is now empowered to appoint a committee to work out plans looking to the organization of the dark tobacco growers in Kentucky and to work and co-operate with the Burley committee in forming a state-wide tobacco organization, said committee to be composed of three members from each Congressional district embraced in the dark tobacco district."

Speaking at the afternoon session of the federation Gov. Edwin P. Morrow declared his faith in the efficacy of co-operation in promoting the prosperity at once, not only of the farmers but of the whole state.

"Let us have more co-operation among ourselves," Mr. Morrow said. "That is what we have lacked in our previous history. On co-operation and organization depends all permanent progress."

"We can't have too many meetings like this one and the tobacco conference Monday," he said. "The purposes of such gatherings I can heartily support. If they are put into practice, only good can come from it, good for us individually and as citizens of the state, and good for the future of both."

MASON COUNTY COWS MAKE ENVIABLE RECORD

Newell Holsteins Put Under Official Test Make Records and Win Place Among Best.

The ability of Mason county dairymen to make good official records with their Holsteins was most conclusively demonstrated during the week just passed by Mr. W. H. Newell, who has just completed official seven day tests on two cows and one heifer at his farm.

Mr. J. G. Mason, of the Kentucky Experiment Station was the tester, and congratulated Mr. Newell very highly on the production of his cows, and said if conditions had been more favorable, and the cows had received the ordinary preparation usually given cows put under official test the records made would have been much higher.

Outside of the increased value of any cow making an official record there is a corresponding increase in the value of her calves. Mr. Newell is fortunate in having two daughters and one son of his high-record cow, one of the daughters being the heifer just tested. The increased value of these animals will easily exceed $500.

The records given below are strictly official and are for seven days consecutive production:

Springdale Palatin Pauline, age 5 years, ten months, 26 days. Total milk 148.8 pounds. Total butter 23.06 pounds.

Clermont Burke Pontias, age four years, eleven months, eleven days. Total milk 394.7 pounds. Total butter 15.73 pounds.

Pauline It Pontia, age two years two months, six days. Total milk 233.6 pounds. Total butter 12.86 pounds.

A gallon of milk weighs 8.6 pounds, and a quart 2.15 pounds. It will readily appear therefore that the best cow produced over 255 quarts of milk in a week, or over 36 quarts daily, with a daily production of over three and one-fourth pounds of butter.
